

SITYAR FAMILY TREE

Version 7 –2020

INTRODUCTION:

This is one of the standard print-outs of the Family Tree Maker Genealogical Software.

This Introduction and Index are edited in.

The print-out is generated from data downloaded from the Tribalpages site of the Sityar Family as maintained by the webmasters.

Majority of the original data in this Family Tree was pieced together from email exchanges between webmasters Frank Almonte Sityar, Gigi Gonzales Matias, Rory Sityar Abrera, and Manny Sityar which included extensive hard-copy and electronic files. This was assembled by Danny Gil, who also included data from miscellaneous Face Book postings, plus more research on the internet. A good portion of the initial data came from a book published in the 1990's "Memorias Intimas" by historian Almario Dumindim wherein the index shows about 16 Sityars and their 76 offspring with spouses. Unfortunately, the listing is vague about how all of them are inter related, and certain logical assumptions and conjectures had to be made in building up the family tree.

The site was set up in December 2012 and quickly expanded with additional extensive detailed data such as pictures, birthdates, etc by Gigi, while Frank made the extensive introductory writeups and vignettes with photos on many of the early individuals. Rory sent in lots of scanned hardcopy data on Abrera portion of the clan, and Manny sent in more photos which are posted as references on the photo section.

Since posting on the internet, a number of clan members have volunteered additions, updates and corrections which have been incorporated. Early on, Ramona "Mona" Noceto-Esguerra sent in extensive data on the Crecini branch. Latest is Calista "Cali" Isabel Ceguera on their branch.

The format of the print-out below is as follows:

1. Arabic numeral prefix to each name is a unique number for each individual.
2. Names with a hashtag # prefix means that the name will appear again in later generations, in reference to their children.
3. Roman numeral prefix is the order of birth for siblings.
4. Small superscripted numbers indicate generational level of individuals.
5. Parenthesized names after emboldened name are forebears or bloodline of individual.
6. Birth years prefixed by "about" are estimated.
7. Where full names are unknown, XXX or YYY are used, or other descriptive titles.

We enjoin the clan members to make corrections/updates as deem fit, such as filling in the correct names, DOBs, additional children and/or siblings, preferred deletions, etc. If sent back to <roar888ent@gmail.com>, we will periodically update the database and reissue a new printout, as evidenced by newer Version numbers on the Sityar Family in the link below:

<http://tanjay.rgad.com/familytrees/famtrees.html>

At the same time, these updates will be posted right away on the Tribalpages site.

<https://tinyurl.com/y26r73gc>

Last portion is the index, showing all the names in the Sityar bloodline with their corresponding reference number, and then a separate list of their spouses and partners.

ADDENDA:

In early 2020, the Sityar Site was made private by the webmasters, i.e., the public could only view its contents by application and invitation. The fear of identity theft of the living members prompted the move. The Sityar site carries many exact birthdays and pictures of the younger members.

Seems as if the birthdays are what potential scammers use. Many of the webmasters of open sites feel that any specific individual’s more personal data can be more easily garnered through search engines, or simply by Googling.

So for more privacy, I reposted this file after filtering out all exact birthdays, thus leaving only the exact year. As explained earlier, all individuals have been assigned “guestimated” birth years with the prefix “about”, and these remain.

And with all the stories, vignettes, historical sketches from the Royal Sityar Site reproduced on this hardcopy file, which is downloadable, and printable, it will remain among these other selected detailed family trees taken from the Genealogical Project database.

About The Sityars

PROLOGUE

We start with a Disclosure.

The Administrators would like to assure the reader that we have exercised the highest degree of due diligence in the task of accepting, screening, evaluating, and publishing the materials in this forum.

Notwithstanding the preceding divulgence, we cannot guarantee the accuracy of some of the materials. As we dug deeper into the family history the extent of the inaccuracies, due to scant information, became apparent.

The administrators relied heavily on the manuscript written, in longhand, by Colonel Manuel B. Sityar (hijo) [Manuel (Padre)>Guillermo>Guillem]. The unauthenticated raw manuscript written in Spanish that appears in the book “Manuel Sityar Rebolusyong Filipino” Memorias Intimas (RFMI), (1998, UP Press) was translated into Tagalog by Trinidad O. Regala in a publication by Filipino National Artist Virgilio S. Almario.

Contingent on examination of the alleged original manuscript appearing in the RFMI to confirm that the manuscript in the book is exactly like the original, we deemed that in the meantime, we will stipulate that most of the content of said document appearing in the RFMI book which has NOT been invalidated by the administrator(s) is reliable.

By relying entirely upon the Spanish-written manuscript we lessened the danger of important details “falling through the cracks” in the process of translation. We also completely ignored certain editorial comments and photographs in the book that we determined, at this point, to be without factual basis if not outright falsehood.

Many of the information contained herein has been refined from the initial data published in the ten (10) years since this website was created.

Dealing with heritage is a daunting task thus accuracy is prime for it directly reflects on the legacy which is each individual’s indelible mark in history.

Recently (May 2020) we received information from other reliable sources which, at this point in time, appear to carry sufficient credibility on the data which these authorities provided us and for us to have considered these, when added to our vetted data, as a solid threshold.

A little background is in order. Let us start our journey back in time, specifically during the mid-1800's in Cadiz, Spain, where our story begins.

But first, a word about the House of Bourbon (French) and Borbon (Spanish)

In 1272 Robert, the Count of Clairmont, the youngest son of France's King Louis IX, married Beatrice of Burgundy, the ruling Lady of the (French) House of Bourbon. Their son, Louie I, (a.k.a. Louie the "Lame") became the first Duke of Bourbon.

Several centuries after the founding of the house, the line was headed by a French man up to the Philip V who was willed Crown of Spain by his father, Charles II, King of France, (b.1589 d.1610). There were political considerations which had to be addressed thus Philip V emerged to be the King of Spain (instead of France). That moment in time was the year 1700.

Philip V is therefore considered as the "ROOT" of the Spanish BORBON line which this family is identified with. The tumultuous characteristic of succession fiasco spilled over into the early years of Philip V's reign.

After a number of bloody conflicts from 1701 and lasting some 114 years, some type of stability of the lineage was finally achieved in 1815 during the reign of Ferdinand VII. More conflicts concerning the legitimacy Isabella II erupted (the Borbons fought each other) so the lineage continued being intact, and, more or less discernible.

There were two periods in history that the Borbons lost sovereignty: the establishment of the House of Savoy, 1870-1874, Second Republic, 1931-1939 and, finally, Francisco Franco's Nationalistic Regime, (a carry-over of the Second Republic, 1939 – 1975).

Generalissimo Francisco Franco Bahamonde nominated Juan Carlos de Borbon to take over as monarch upon his (Franco's) death. Juan Carlos' son, the current El Rey de Espana, Felipe Juan Pablo Alfonso de Todos Los Santos de Borbón y de Grecia, is a continuation of the Borbon line.

We have a high degree of confidence that the Sitjar-Sityar bloodline is a part of the Borbon dynasty, albeit as a sub-branch. It is also clear that sanguinary connections between the current Royals, the present ruler's family and this branch of the Sityar bloodline are practically imperceptible because of the layers of many dozen of past generations to the present. It is a truth in the fact that living members of our bloodline are so far removed from the Borbon's thus any expectation for men to be bowing before the Sityar men or women executing curtsies before the Sityar women is simply wishful thinking.

We discovered that one branch (of three that originated from the Iberian peninsula Mainland) of the SitJar family settled in Porreres, Mallorca (Majorca) which is part of the Balearic Islands (Menorca, Ibiza, and Formentera are the three other major islands).

This is the branch that is the subject of this discourse. The image of our family Coat of Arms appears in the upper corner of the "Home" page. Our family crest is described at the end of this summary. The two other branches of the family have their own emblem. We have possession of one and are in the process of acquiring the authenticated, third, and final Coat of Arms.

We began our endeavor to locate a credible part of the Sityar ancestry to resolve the relationship (if any) between two Family Clans with the surnames "SitJar" and "SitYar".

A "Guillem" SitJar is recorded in history as the one who migrated to the Town of Cadiz, in the Andalucian region from Porreres in Mallorca (Majorca), Spain. Guillem is Catulian for William. We believe that his move from the Catalanian region to the Andalucian region would have been between 1780 and 1790.

For clarity and ease in understanding this preface, we considered Guillem as our Prime Person, a starting point, so to speak, in our inquiry.

The name Guillem SitJar is a Catalan name, which is preferred because he came from the Balearic Islands, where the majority of the populace speak Catalan as their native language. This gentleman would be the last of this bloodline who spelled his name with a "J".

Guillem's only son, the (1st) Guillermo, spelled his name with a "Y". Official documents, i.e. baptismal, marriage certificates attest to this fact. However, the reason(s) for this change will be the subject of further investigation.

Guillem married Juliana-Maria Dominguez y de Leon who was a resident of Puerto Real, a town approximately 7 miles (11.3 kilometers) NE of the City of Cadiz.

The Sityar – Dominguez union produced the (1st) Guillermo (1794-1857) , the only child (unico Hijo). It was Guillermo who first set foot in Las Islas Filipinas with his wife La Señora Doña Vitalia Prudencia Ramona de Jesús Josefa Isabel de Cañas Trujillo y Alburquerque, (1810-1874) a Duchess.

Her father, whose own father was a Minister of the Overseas (Ultramar). Her maternal grandfather was a recipient of the Order of Calatrava, in which records of his admission to the said exclusive order of nobles can be traced back up to the 1500s.

The (First) Guillermo-(El Senor Don Guillermo Jose' Sityar y Dominguez de Leon ) (Duke) and Vitalia Cañas Trujillo (Duchess) marriage produced four (4) children:

Doña María África Rosa Áurea Sityar y Cañas Trujillo (b.1834). It appears that Africa Rosa never left Spain and presumably died in Cadiz.

Don Manuel Francisco de Paula Ramon Gumersindo Sityar y Cañas Trujillo (Sityar de Cañas) [his formal title] (1837-after 1883).

Don Guillermo Nicolás Bonifacio Sityar y de Cañas Trujillo 1845. This (2nd) Guillermo was born in Balanga, Bataan, left for Cadiz, Spain and married a Gaetena, Maria Teresa Vizcaino. Both appear to have died in Spain.

Dona Maria Rosa Sityar y Cañas-Trujillo (1856-1918) the youngest child, was born in the Philippines like her brother (the 2nd) Guillermo. She too, migrated to Cadiz, Spain, and died there. She married Pedro Abriñes. Their only child was Carmen Sityar y Abriñes.

The duchess and the (1st) Guillermo's wife, La Señora Doña Vitalia Prudencia Ramona de Jesús Josefa Isabel de Cañas Trujillo y Alburquerque, was ostensibly related to María Isabel Luisa de Borbón y Borbón-Dos Sicilias, mother of La Infanta, Reina Isabella II or to La Reina Isabella II herself, through the paternal relations/lineage. (This needs further investigation).

Vitalia was reportedly was a Lady In-Waiting when Reina Maria-Christina de Dos Sicilias became the Queen of Spain by virtue of her marriage (Ferdinand's VII's fourth marriage) to the King. Their daughter, Isabella II inherited the throne from her father, Ferdinand VII, when she was only three (3) years old. The former Queen (who took the title Duchess) assumed the role of Regent until Queen Isabella II (La Infanta) was 14 yrs old. The Duchess Christina, the widowed ex-Queen, married a commoner and HE became a Duke by virtue of a Royal decree granted by Christina's daughter, Reina Isabella II. (The circumstances leading to the matrimonial event is yet another "Love" story. Ole'!)

It appears then that, by marriage, El Senor Don Guillermo Jose' Sityar y Dominguez de Leon also known as "Sitchar" y Dominguez de Leon became a Duke. (There also exists the possibility that a "Juan", the lawyer, (IF he was Guillem's father) was THE Duke who then passed on the title to his son, Guillem. If this was indeed the case, it would mean that a "Royal" married another.

It was Unico Hijo, the (1st) Guillermo, and Vitalia, bearing a two-year-old Manuel who arrived in the Philippines sometime in the mid-1800s. Guillermo became the first Alcalde Mayor of Balanga, Bataan, a port town where the Spanish galleons bound for Spain loaded natural resources and goods from Las Islas Filipinas.

Don Manuel Francisco de Paula Ramon Gumersindo Sityar y Cañas Trujillo (Sityar de Cañas) [his formal title] the second (and first son) of Guillermo's children, married twice: first to Juliana Bernal y Bernabé (formerly Bernabé, because she was born illegitimate, and was subsequently legitimated in 1872), described in the RFMI book as a "Zamboanguena, hija de (daughter of) cavitenos" (sic). The second marriage was to Andrea Rufina Bernabé (sometimes surnamed González y Bernabé), who was also illegitimate.

Don Manuel Sityar de Cañas and Juliana Bernal had six known children: a (3rd) Guillermo, a (2nd) Manuel [Hijo]), (Maria) Luisa, Jose, Eliza, and Pablo (Pabling), the youngest.

It seems that he was childless with Andrea.

Don Manuel Sityar de Cañas was a graduate of the Spanish Naval Academy who attained the rank of Commodore whose last station was the Commanding Officer of the Armory located in San Francisco de Malabon (now General Trias) Cavite.

This gentleman was the most interesting individual who, singly and what appears to be with the "cooperation" from at least three women, propagated the family line. His proclivity for "adventurism" has certainly sealed his legacy. Notes incorporated in family tree herein will clearly add substance to the meaning of the preceding statements.

Don Manuel's eldest son, also known as (Hijo) distinguished himself as a soldier- for Spain and the First Republic of the Philippines, respectively. More information about the life of Hijo is also found in the notes in the pages of the Royal Sityar family tree.

As a privilege of nobility Manuel B. Sityar was nominated and did attend (1893-1895) the Academia General Militar at the Alcazar in Toledo, Spain, a school that prepared the cadets to serve as soldiers in the Guardia Civil, the law enforcement branch of the government.

He returned to the Philippines in 1895 as a newly minted Lieutenant whose initial post was as the Guardia Civil Commanding Officer for the entire Rizal province. His headquarters was located in the capital, Pasig.

"Hijo" is recognized by the Gregorio Zaide and other historians as the first Spanish official who discovered the existence of a rebellious organization later to be known as the "Katipunan".

Hijo's description of the briefing he gave Governor-General Ramon Blanco in July 1896, which constituted the first formal notice to the government, a warning of an imminent, organized, uprising, is noteworthy.

Blanco ridiculed and rebuffed then Lieutenant Sityar's advisory about an impending upheaval and assured him that tranquility in the land prevailed because the natives (Indios) were content and compliant. Approximately 45 days later war broke out. Blanco, who was clearly in the state of panic, ordered Sityar back to the Intramuros from Pasig to beg for protection.

Note: Several events in the aforementioned manuscript strongly hint that Lt. Sityar must have had an intelligence network he relied on. Being half Filipino undoubtedly aided him in obtaining crucial information that enhanced his career as a soldier.

Historian Arnaldo Dumindin designated Manuel B. Sityar as one of 5 "Awesome Heroes" who performed good deeds for the Philippines and Filipinos in spite of the fact the Five (5) were not Filipinos.

We will conclude our journey in this episode at the end of the 19th century, with the annals of Don Manuel Bernardo Guillermo Sityar y Bernal as the setting. More information about the illustrious career of this soldier, educator, scholar, and politician is available in pages of the family tree

Notice to all who have the SITYAR bloodline. We believe that the SITYAR surname is native to and embedded solely in the Philippines, starting from the Guillermo the first, who used the surname when he arrived in Las Islas Filipinas around the mid 19th century.

Conclusion: Everyone who is a "Sityar" becomes a member of a unique group, another sub-branch of the Borbon bloodline, definitely the latest of a most interesting progeny.

We have identified persons whose ancestors also originated from Porreres, Mallorca who ended up in different parts of the globe. They still maintain the Sitjar surname.

In the course of almost three centuries presence in the Philippines, The SitJar and Sityar are now dubbed by us as "una y la misma Familia" (La Familia) lineage.

The bloodline survives, is robust, its nobility intact and its luster embellished by achievements in the different fields of endeavor by La Familia members.

The honor and prestige they have and will bring to the credit of the Name are no more and no less than the famous members of La Familia of old whom we have met in the preceding dissertation.

Clearly the family is prodigious. It is also diverse. Some are rich, some are poor, some married well, some not, some married many times, some not at all. Some have a legion of children, some simply a plethora, some a few, some none at all.

Some, by virtue of marriage, became related to famous and/or distinguished persons. Some also married or were related to persons who were undistinguished and/or infamous because of their notoriety. A few never married nor produced children making them the "end" of a particular branch/line of the La Familia bloodline

A few have prospered financially, materially, some have achieved comfort, some are poor. Some are intellectuals, some are scholars, some are naive, some are eccentric, some just normal, some are slow, some are just plain crazy.

The reference to "some" is for La Familia members in the past, present or yet to come. Whomever or whoever they may have been, are, will be, all have a little of the La Familia in him, her or "it".

Nevertheless, we love them all.

COAT OF ARMS

Based on information developed and pending further clarification(s) the designated Standard (Crest) for this Family Line is the one with the Four Stars in dark blue laid out on a white field of the shield.

The Knight's Helmet (an almost perfunctory decoration in most Coats of Arms) has three (3) Ostrich feathers indicating the three branches of the family.

The summary below is found in the last two sentences of the document “Historia del Apellido”: (Translated in English)

.....”From the Spanish military archives, among others, is extracted the name of Miguel Sityar y Bernal who served in the Infantry Corps in 1879. The following described arms were conceded to a Sityar family by the corresponding noble establishments.”

APPEAL FROM THE ADMINISTRATORS

We wish that those who have relevant material, knowledge, and interest to continue the Sityar genealogy will share those particulars with the present and future administrators / webmasters of this site.

Notes for Col Manuel `Hijo` Bernal Sityar Jr:
 FROM THE BOOK PHILIPPINE AMERICAN WAR, 1898 TO 1902, BY ARMALDO DUMINDIM On Oct. 25, 1898, the Academia Militar was established at Malolos, Bulacan with Colonel Manuel Bernal Sityar, hijo (meaning junior), as Director. Colonel Sityar was a Spanish mestizo who had served as a lieutenant in the Spanish CivilGuard. In 1882, he trained at the Academia Infanteria de Filipinas in Manila. He graduated from the Academia Militar de Toledo in Spain in 1895. He was born on Aug. 20, 1863 in Cavite City of an "Indio" mother and a Spanish father who hailed from Cadiz, Spain. His great grandfather was a lawyer to Spanish

King Alfonso. His great grandmother was a relative of Queen Isabela. Both his grandfather and father were Spanish Dukes, and his father was in addition a commodore of the Spanish Navy. Sityar was the first to suspect the existence of a revolutionary movement. On July 5, 1896, he reported to the Civil Governor of Manila that certain individuals, especially in Mandaluyong and San Juan del Monte, were enlisting men for unknown purposes, making them sign in pledge with their own blood. But his report did not alarm the colonial authorities. Fifty-six days later, on Aug. 30, about 800 Katipuneros assaulted the polverin (Spanish powder magazine) at San Juan del Monte, igniting the Philippine Revolution. (153 Katipuneros and 2 Spanish soldiers died in this first major battle of the revolution). Sityar later defected to Aguinaldos army at San Francisco de Malabon (now General Trias), Cavite on 28, 1898. He declared, "I have served the country of my father with blood. Now I will serve the country of my mother with blood". Colonel Sityar served as aide-de-camp and assistant chief of staff to General Emilio Aguinaldo. In the Malolos Congress which opened on Sept. 15, 1898, he represented the province of Laguna. Sityar and his wife accompanied the president of the First Republic in his long and arduous trek to northern Luzon, from Nov. 13, 1899 in Bayambang, Pangasinan, until Dec. 25, 1899 in Talubin, Bontoc, Mountain Province. On that Christmas day, Aguinaldo, wishing to spare the 5 women in his entourage from further hardships (Aguinaldos wife and sister, Sityars wife and Col. Jose Leybas 2 sisters) ordered Sityar and a certain Colonel Paez to accompany the women and surrender to the Americans in Talubin. [Colonel Leyba was Aguinaldos adjutant and secretary]. Aguinaldo and his party reached Palanan, Isabela on Sept. 6, 1900. Here, Aguinaldo was captured by the Americans on March 23, 1901. After the surrender at Talubin, Sityar quit the military life and taught at the Liceo de Manila when it was founded in 1900. Curiously, in the same year, the Queen Regent of Spain made Manuel Sityar Knight of the Military Order of Maria Cristina. Sityar was one of the founding members of the pro-American Partido Federal when it was organized on Dec. 23, 1900. He died in 1927.

Doctor Pablo Sityar was regarded as a prominent physician in Manila. He had a medical clinic for his private practice which was located at # 40 Escolta Street, Manila, Philippines. Dr Sityar was also a consulting physician at the Philippine General Hospital. He was murdered on 26, 1924 in his clinic. The authorities have placed the crime to have been committed at approximately 6:00 p.m. Testimonies at the trial of the perpetrator revealed that the Doctor knew his assailant and had his back turned when the initial, non fatal, blow to his back was delivered. As the doctor turned to face his attacker he was again stabbed in the chest. This too was a non-fatal wound. Both were inflicted while inside the examination room. The Doctor then ran to his adjacent office where he was again stabbed, this time fatally, on the right side of the chest. The trial and conviction of the perpetrator, Fausto Carlos were held on March 15, 1925 at the courtroom of Judge Bonifacio. Carlos was sentenced to prison for a period of 14 years, 8 months and one day.
